

ABSTRACT

A method has been found for the manufacture of a spread which is characterized by the presence of a substantial amount of olive oil polyphenols and the absence of olive oil odour. The deodorized olive oil to be used for the preparation is obtained by a mild refining process which spares the olive oil's minor components.